Summary of the Activity:

Granth Dindi was celebrated on 4th January, as a part of Vachan Sankalp Maharashtra as per schedule declared by University of Mumbai from 1st January to 15th January. Prof. Tushar Lokhande, Principal, graced the occasion and expressed his thoughts on the importance of literature. A palanquin for the books was made and carried as a procession inside the college campus to create awareness among pupils.

On 13th January an in-house book exhibition was organized displaying a variety of books in all streams.

An exciting e-Quiz competition with the theme (Books and authors) was conducted on 14th January, which was seen as a true learning experience by the students.

On 15th January, organized a book reading session to provide a platform for students to showcase their reading skills. This event received positive feedback from participants and made a memorable occasion. Students recited poetry from literature of three languages (Hindi, Marathi, English).

Simultaneously a book review competition was conducted to facilitate the writing and analyzing skills of students.

Overall, the events were successful through a combined efforts of teachers and students, and they emphasized the importance of reading in our lives. The program concluded with a vote of thanks by the library committee. They extended their gratitude to the faculty and students, for taking time off their busy schedule to attend the celebrations.

The poster features a colorful background with books and a graduation cap. It includes logos for MES and HK College of Pharmacy. The main text reads: 'Maharashtra Educational Society's H.K.
