Summary of the Lecture/Activity:

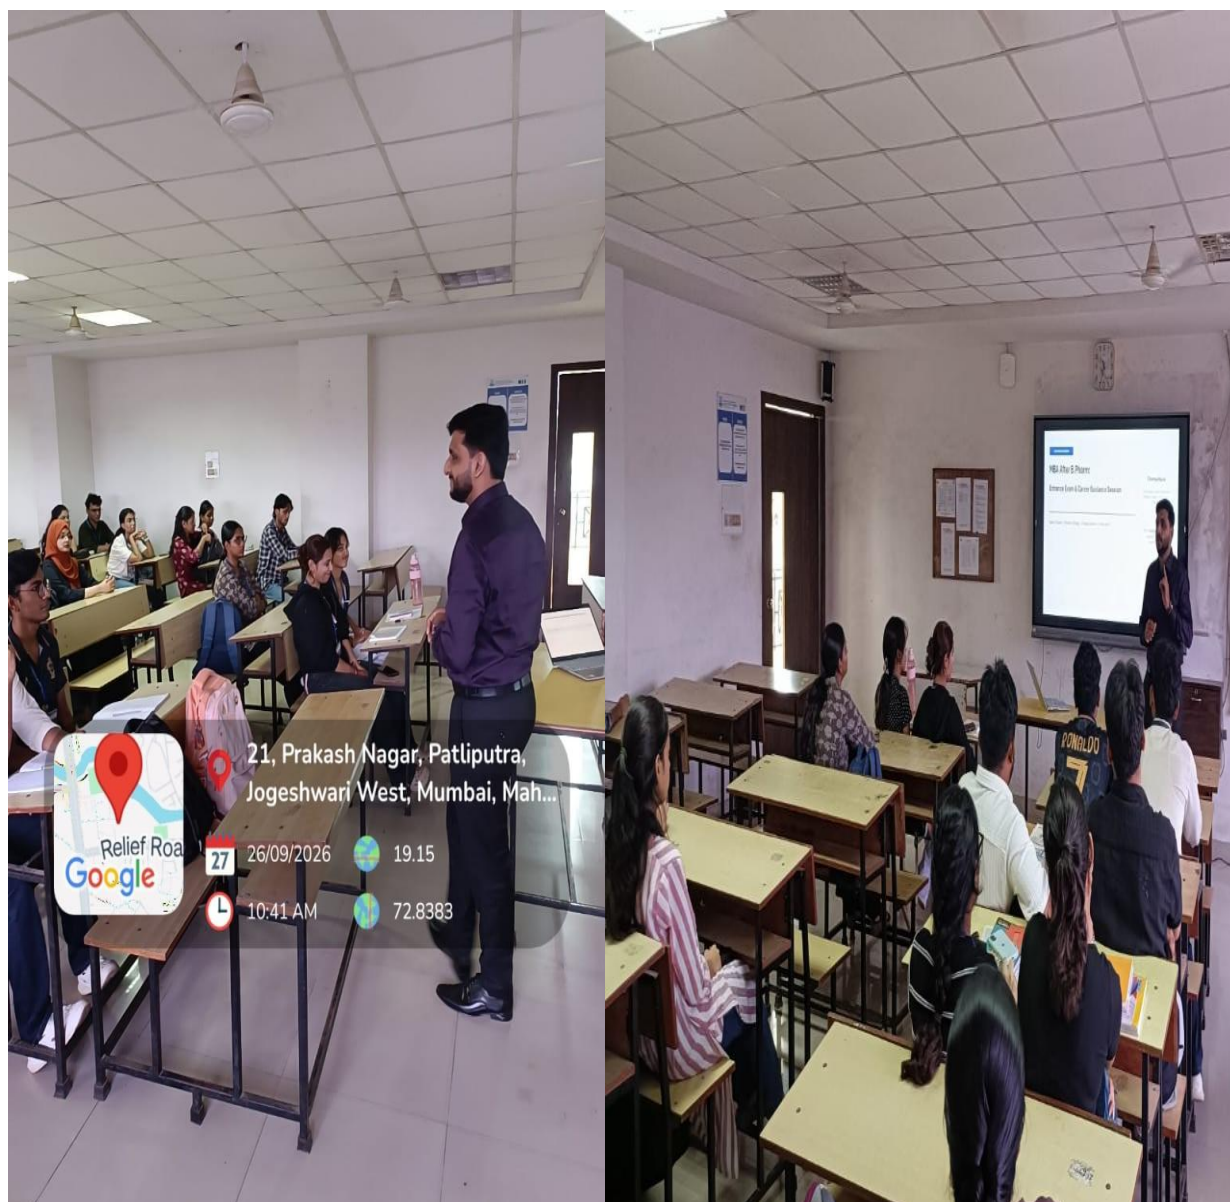

- A special guidance session was organized for final-year B.Pharm students to explore higher-education options focusing on an MBA.
- The session highlighted the rare and high-value combination of scientific pharmacy domain knowledge and core business acumen.
- Speakers detailed how B.Pharm + MBA graduates uniquely bridge the gap between clinical drug development and commercial market strategy.
- Major entrance exams were covered: CAT (Nov 2026), NMAT (Nov–Dec 2026), SNAP (Dec 2026), and XAT/CMAT (Jan 2027).
- Cracking strategies emphasized early conceptual foundations in Quant, DILR, and VARC, paired with regular mock tests and error analysis.
- The admission process was explained, including academic profile weightage, Written Ability Tests (WAT), and Personal Interview (PI) prep.
- Students were guided on building strong resumes through pharma marketing internships, certifications, and extra-curricular leadership.
- Expansive career avenues were outlined in pharmaceutical product management (PMT), market access, and healthcare consulting (IQVIA, ZS).

- Roles in hospital administration, health-tech platforms (1mg, PharmEasy), medical devices, and biotech venture capital were showcased.
- Essential leadership skills were highlighted: financial management, business analytics, strategic negotiation, and regulatory awareness.
- The session demonstrated how this hybrid background accelerates entry into high-paying executive and strategic leadership roles.
- Actionable advice was provided on balancing final-year B.Pharm academic coursework with disciplined MBA entrance preparation.
- Overall, the session inspired pharmacy undergraduates to leverage their technical roots for high-impact managerial careers in healthcare.
