Summary of the Lecture/Activity:

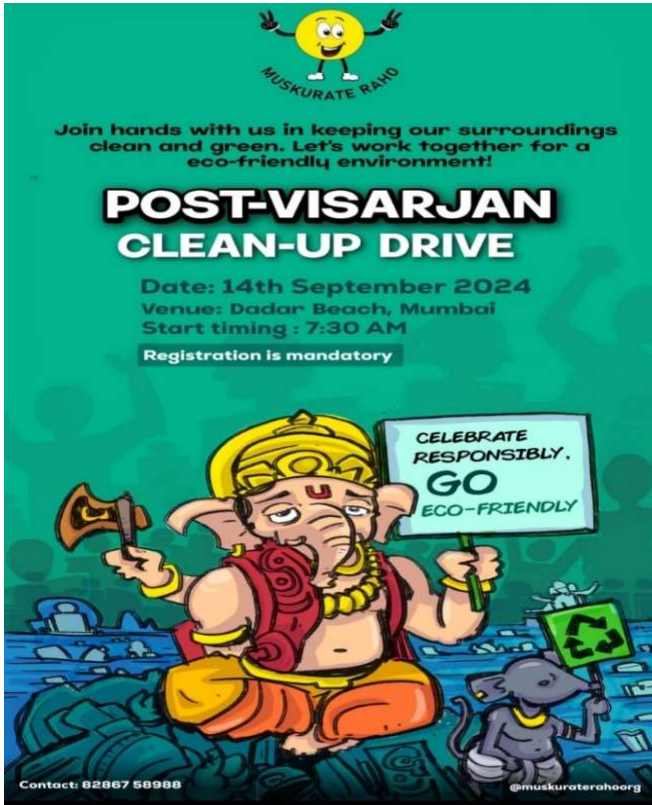

On Saturday, 14th September 2024, our college students actively participated in a post-Ganpati Visarjan beach cleanup drive organized in association with NGO "Muskurate Raho". The event took place at Dadar West, near Shivaji Park, along the coastline, and began at 7:30 am.

The drive kicked off with a brief introduction by the founder of Muskurate Raho, who emphasized the importance of environmental conservation and how individual actions can make a significant impact. The volunteers were provided with gloves and divided into teams to begin the cleanup.

The volunteers started by collecting the Plaster of Paris (POP) remnants of the Ganpati idols that had washed ashore. These were carefully taken to the designated waste dump for proper disposal. Along with this, the students also gathered floral waste, garlands, plastic decorations, and cloth materials and separated them from the idol remains to ensure proper segregation.

Upon the completion of the drive, the Muskurate Raho team spoke to the volunteers about the importance of spreading awareness about environmental conservation and encouraged to be active advocates for change.
