Summary of the Lecture/Activity:

To adequately prepare B. Pharmacy students for careers in the health care sector, MITCON, Consultancy & Engineering Services Limited—an ISO 9001:2015 certified organization recognized by NSDC (National Skill Development Corporation), LSSSDC (Life Sciences Sector Skill Development Council), and DSIR (Department of Scientific & Industrial Research)—entered into a Memorandum of Understanding with H. K. College of Pharmacy, supported by the Department of Science and Technology.

This Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) facilitated the execution of the fourth and fifth modules of the Value-Added Course titled “Aptitude Test Preparation and Aptitude Test” for Second, Third, and Final Year B. Pharm students on December 21, 2024. The program aimed to enhance students question analysis, logical reasoning, numeric aptitude, and verbal reasoning skills. Students were subjected to “The Simulated Aptitude Test”, a comprehensive practice exam designed to assess preparedness and pinpoint areas in need of development. All crucial for success in the pharmaceutical industry's selection process. The questions were also designed to assess their confidence, quick thinking in a short span of time. Participants expressed that the program significantly contributed to their career development after earning their B. Pharmacy degree.
